field to score Acee.

After this first the Legion either really went to work and retired the side. Then those Legion bats began to boom with Hudspey leading off a triple, followed by Crider's single, scoring Hudspey. The Legion catcher, Van Landingham slammed a double to center field, scoring Crider and at the end of the third inning the score was knotted at five all.

Then the Elks had to go to work. With the shok double by Ronnie Thomas, a stolen base and a hit batsman set up the final stage for Skipper Poole's long home run to deep left field to send the Elks out front 8 to 5.

The Legion tried a comeback squeezing in one run in the eighth and one in the ninth, but it wasn't enough to head the Elks, who were determined to win.

In the second game, the Lions, managed by Austin Richmond and T. Parker vs. the Rotary, managed by Bill McElchey and Fred Farmer, Robbins was the mound for the Rotary and while Luke was handling the mound duties for the Lions.

Robbins was having a little trouble setting the ball over the plate walking Lockmiller and Hague. Puckett smashed the line drive to right field scoring Lockmiller and Hague.

Puckett scored on a fielders choice, so at the end of the first inning the Lions seemed a sure winner. But Bottry bounced a ball in the second inning with Burry leading off with a double.

Dubbs followed with a two bagger, Chambliss walked and Robbins cleaned the bases with a triple. At the end of the second, the Rotarians were leading 3-1. The Lions came back in the third with two walks, a stolen base and a couple of errors to score three more runs in the third. Rotary proved to be too much for the Lions when they scored six runs in their half of the third. After the third inning both teams settled down to some real ball playing with fancy fielding on both sides.

Carlew was called at 9:30 with only five and a half innings played and Rotarians winning by a 11-7 score.

Be sure to be at Memorial Field Friday night for some more big league ball playing and yell for your favorite team. See you Friday.

The thoughtfulness and graciousness of the Rotarians invitation is matched by the enthusiasm and grateful acceptance by the students, and it is all to the comfort and pleasure of both, who, naturally worry about night driving in these days of 165 to 185 horsepower motoring.

TOURISTS SPEND 20% OF STATE'S RETAIL PURCHASES IN 1952

Tourists and visitors to Florida spent an estimated $589,000,000 through retail outlets in the State last year.

This amount was spent in retail stores of all types, eating places, filling stations, etc. However, expenditures by tourists for rooms, hotel rooms, utilities, transportation and amusements are not covered by this total.

The Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported recently.

This week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division places total retail sales in Florida in 1952 at a preliminary figure of $3,500,000,000. The official population of Florida passed three million last year for the first time and had reached 3,100,000 by July 1. On the basis of this population total retail sales would appear to be $1,048 per Florida resident. This figure, however, includes expenditures by tourists as well as by residents.

Nationally, the average citizen spent $90 in retail stores in 1952 and the average citizen in the southeast spent $725. Retail expenditures by Florida residents stood at $858, half way between the national and the southeastern figure. Thus, on a population basis, Floridians spent $2,861,000,000 of the total retail sales in the State in 1952 while the balance, $589,000,000, was spent by visitors.

THIS WEEK'S SERMONETTE SIN AND ITS REMEDY

By Rev. James Purcell

South Bay Baptist Church

Psalm 34: 4 Stand in awe and sin not. Commune with your own heart upon your bed, and be still.

Sin is not a theory, but a stubborn and tragic fact. Sin is more than a mistake, it is a cruel crime. It is the tragedy of the universe, neither natural, normal, or necessary. There is only one thing wrong with the world today, and that is sin. Sin depopulates heaven and populates hell.

God hates sin. He hated it yesterday, he hates it today, he will hate it tomorrow, he will hate it forever. He does not, he will not, he cannot tolerate sin. The Bible is its entirety devoted fully and faithfully with the subject of sin. It tells of the glory of man's creation, it tells of his temptations, it speaks of his transgressions. Man was once holy, but fell from that position through pride.

We hear so much these days of what the sinner has in natural gifts, that it might be well for us to know what he does not have. He does not have a clean heart. Jer. 17:9 The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked, who can know it? The horizon of a sinner's life dips at the things earthly. For instance — what shall we eat? what shall we drink? what shall we wear?

Sin produces a moral distance between man and his maker. Isaiah said, your sins have separated you between you and your God. If it were not for our sins our nature would unfold to God, just as the nature of a child unfolds to its parents.

Sin is moral deformity, how pathetic it is to see a man with a strong body and a weak withered soul. Sin darkens the intelligence and makes a man ignorant of God. The sinner loves darkness, walks in darkness and knows not whether he goes.

Death is hell's currency that a man will receive for a life of sin. Sin is not an accident, it is not a mistake, it is an awful reality. It is the sorrow of heaven, the ruin of earth, and the horror of hell. Sin has wrecked every home that has ever been wrecked, it has broken every heart that has ever been broken. Sin has dug every grave. Sin is the undertaker at every funeral. Sin is the spade that digs every grave. Sin always kills, death always follows sin. Paul said, the wages of sin is death.

Sin murdered the prophets that looked down through the dim vesture of ages and saw the coming One. When he came and was born in a stable and cradled in a manger, Sin followed him for thirty-three years, and then incited the mob that hung him on the cross. Yes, sin drove God to an earthly grave. He dropped his head and said it's finished! Salvation had been wrought. His life had been given, His blood had been shed that we might live. There is a hymn that goes like this:

Before the throne my surety stands,
My name is written in His hands.

Friends, this is our hope today. The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us from all sin. Accept Him now.

ness with God, as evidenced by Christian healing, is the theme of services in all Christian Science churches next Sunday when the subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "DOCTRINE OF ATONEMENT."

The Golden Text is from John 1:3: "That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that we also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ."

Bible references include the following from Psalms (40:8): "I delight to do thy will, O my God; yea, thy law is within my heart."

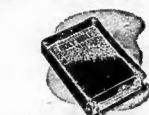

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "The scientific unity which exists between God and man must be wrought out in life-practice, and God's will must be universally done."

LESLEY BURROWS TO SPEAK SUNDAY

THE HAZARD OF FIRE

Such fires in the soil are difficult to prevent and more difficult to extinguish.

Seasonal overdrainage of these peat soils has greatly increased the problem of preventing fires in the soil. However, these same soils, adequately drained and cultivated, produce some of the finest food and fiber crops in the world. The ability of these soils to produce food-stuffs was evidenced during World War II by the presentation to Palm Beach County of the Agriculture Award by the Army.

One of the most serious dangers to the production of crops is the weakening of the dikes by fire and the resultant failure of the dike during the following flood. The farm dikes are largely constructed from the peat soils. Fire in these dry embankments will smolder for months if permitted to do so. Extinguishing one of these deep-buried dike fires is a slow and difficult job.

Fire, in addition to the destruction of irreplaceable peat soils, produces a pall of acid smoke over adjacent cities that causes discomfort to all citizens and serious illness to persons with respiratory trouble. During the extensive fires of 1949 and 1946 many persons were forced to leave the State because of the smoke condition. Highway transportation was hampered and the normal economy of the area was affected in many ways.

Smoke from these fires interferes with normal air traffic and has caused many years of late World War II, caused problems in the training of service personnel throughout South Florida.

Florida's relatively fog-free climate should be protected from the smoke nuisance.

The vast areas of uninhabited land in the lower Everglades provide ideal target ranges for aerial bombing.

The U. S. Government is the owner of three large tracts of land in this part of Florida—two reservations for the Seminole Indians and Everglades National Park. The latter is especially vulnerable to fires and damaged by them.

Again is a special problem of fire control requiring special equipment and trained personnel.

Prior to the creation of the Everglades Fire Control District by the 1935 Legislature, thousands of acres of valuable peat land were destroyed by fire, and many thousands of acres in the eleven county area were left barren of all vegetation.

While the appropriation at the beginning was very small, the Department began to demonstrate that fires could be controlled, and that with adequate equipment, many acres of muck, and especially muck dikes, could be saved, in addition to greatly lessening fire and smoke damage in other areas.

During the 1941 meeting of the Legislature adequate funds were appropriated to purchase and build equipment so that at least one unit could be stationed in each of the eleven counties. The same Legislature provided for a Board of Commissioners composed of one from each of the counties in the District.

During the ten year period of continuing appropriation of $75,000 per year, the department was faced with varied climatic conditions, some extremely dry, and others with a normal rainfall, approximately $20,000 was returned to the State Treasury, as the Commissioners decided that unspent funds should be returned, if not needed for essential operation.

A total of $92,063 was returned to the State during this period. When continuing appropriations were obtained by the Legislature as a policy, our budget was cut to $87,000 per year, and at a time when the purchasing power of the dollar was greatly reduced. We not only lost figure dollars, but we were penalized on account of the reduced purchasing power of a dollar.

Most of the surplus stock accumulated was used up during 1948-51 and larger appropriations were asked of the Legislature in '51. The Budget Commission as well as both House and Senate Appropriations Committees approved a $100,000 per year appropriation, but the Governor brought this down to only $66,000 per year, causing a major limitation of operations and barest maintenance.

The current Budget Commission approved an appropriation of $12,859 annually, and in addition recommended an item of $30,000 be included for the construction of headquarters, shop, and office on five acres of land on State Road No. 18, three miles north of Belle Glade. The building being used at present is only temporary and wholly inadequate.

The District must have sufficient funds for operation or it will discontinue the effort. Since the beginning of the Department, records have been kept, showing the number of fires, number of acres involved, number of man hours to extinguish, the section, range and township, as well as the probable origin, for each of the eleven counties.

From 1941 thru '51, this department was called on to extinguish 6581 fires, varying in size from a small roadside fire to large sawgrass fires involving thousands of acres. These records show that in fires on all privately owned lands, and drainage districts, the Fire Control furnished the necessary equipment and pumps, together with the unit operator, and the landowners furnished the additional help necessary. In many instances this was equal to or more than the cost to the State.

While the counties in the District do not levy additional acreage tax, as do the counties in which the Florida Forest Service operates, the additional labor furnished by the landowners may be considered to a great extent to be a matching fund against the State's expense.

The State must protect its own lands, of which it owns some thousands of acres in the District, but must be concerned with the sources of revenue from tourists. They have been forced to leave on account of the annoying and nauseous odor of burning peat. This pall of smoke could easily cover the lower east coast when strong winds blow over the burning area.

Should these large burning areas be left uncontrolled, they could also affect the operation of the State's largest airport at Miami, as well as many service bases in southeast Florida.

We have always wondered what would happen if a rattle-snake bit a drunkard.

Florida Outstrips National Averages In Ten Year Growth

Florida is continuing to outstrip the rest of the United States in economic progress. This is revealed in Florida Power & Light Company's annual report, which shows the state's sound economic progress almost as much as it outlines FPL's 1952 record. Significantly, President McGregor said the company's growth was based on 35,000 stockholders, bankers and investment executives.

"Old industries are flourishing and many new ones are being established," he pointed out. "The population continues to increase very rapidly. This means more homes, business buildings and factories—more business generally."

Sales of goods manufactured in Florida now exceed 600 years in Florida, he pointed out. The number of manufacturing plants in Florida doubled from 1944 through 1951. Increase in the southeastern states was 47 per cent, and for the nation, only 37 per cent.

The utility, which serves South Florida's east and west coasts and up the east coast to the Georgia line, added a record-breaking 36,000 new customers during 1952. The 418,868 customers on the company's books at the end of the year was a gain of 103 per cent over 1945, compared with 43 per cent for the United States.

"The increase in residential customers indicates that Florida's population continues to double itself every 20 years, as it has done consistently for the past 40 years," Smith noted.

The FPL's president also called attention to the fact that Florida is gaining the status of a year-round state, rather than just a winter playground.

Sales of electricity for the eight-month summer season of 1952 were up 17 per cent, he reported, topping the 12 per cent gain recorded for the fourth month winter season.

The state's livestock industry was cited as another field in which significant gains were made. Nearly 2,000,000 cattle ranged the state's improved pastures during the year. So successfully are the improved breeding cattle raised here that Florida-bred Brahman bulls were recently sent to their Indian sire-land to improve the present stock," he commented.

Year-after-year steadiness of the state's building trend is another yardstick of Florida's "sound and expanding" economy, according to Smith.

Since 1945, more dwelling units have been constructed in the Miami area than were standing on V-J day, he declared. Throughout the state, from 1940 to 1950, the number of new dwelling units increased by 61 per cent. The national average was a 23 per cent gain.

Florida's growth was reflected everywhere, the report shows.

Number of customers increased 10 per cent, sales were up 12 per cent, revenues were up 12 per cent and number of FPL employees rose 13 per cent, to a total of 4,048.

The system capability of 582,000 kilowatts at the end of the year was 16 per cent over the previous year, 162 per cent ahead of V-J day, compared to an increase of only 64 per cent for the nation since the end of World War II.

Common stock earnings were equivalent to $2.84 per common share. Common stock dividends were $1.45 per share, the balance being plowed back into the company to aid the financing of its tremendous construction program.

To meet the state's new demands for power, FPL's 1952 $24,215,000 on new construction during 1952 and has budgeted in all-time high of $33,000,000 for this year, according to the annual report.

The major item of construction during 1952 was the completion of Florida's largest generator, the 80,000-kilowatt generating unit at Cutler, south of Miami.

Projects in this year's budget include completion of an 80,000-kilowatt generating unit at Riviera plant, near West Palm Beach.

The $27,200,000 spent in '52 and scheduled for '53 is part of a $332,000,000, 10-year construction program based on FPL's engineering estimates of the outlook in the company's territory.

Smith said that 10 cities including Miami Beach, the second largest city served, granted new 30-year franchises to the company during the year. "In franchise elections held during the past five years, four out of five voters cast their ballots for the company," he said.

VETERANS INFORMATION AND SERVICE

By Melvin T. Dixon
State Service Officer
SPECIAL INSURANCE FOR DISABLED VETERANS. This special insurance—also carrying NSLI privileges as to beneficiary, within certain options, waivers and conversion—is available to veterans with service-connected disabilities, who are eligible only for indemnity coverage.

To qualify under Section 620 of the NSLI Act, a veteran must have been released from active service on or after April 25, 1951, under other than dishonorable conditions, and (2) All this was in addition to 13 medals won and the ship about which the veteran's satisfaction in having come out among the top in competition.

Further, a veteran must be otherwise insurable under NSLI good health requirements; that is, he must not have any non-service-connected disability which would make him uninsurable.

Although an eligible veteran must apply for this special insurance within the time the date VA determines the disability to be service-connected, applications may be made immediately upon separation from active service and, thus, expedite the ruling on service-connection of the disability or disabilities for which VA compensation would be payable, if 10 percent or more in degree.

Further, a veteran must be otherwise insurable under NSLI good health requirements; that is, he must not have any non-service-connected disability which would make him uninsurable.

If you are a disabled veteran and not now covered by a low-cost insurance, I urge you to contact your Veterans' Service Officer.

MARINE SERGEANT HAS FUN AND WINS PRIZES WITH PISTOL SHOOTING

Marine Master Sgt. Jesse Blanton often feels at home on the range, but he is nowhere near the lone prairie, a string of mountains, or the kitchen stove. As a matter of fact, he isn't even around the house.

A maintenance chief of a Third Marine Aircraft Wing attack squadron, Sergeant Blanton is an expert pistol shot and spends a great deal of his spare time on target range.

It takes many hours of tiring practice to become skilled in this non-parlor sport, so the Leatherneck marksman is often away from his family for hours at a time during the evenings and on weekends.

But when the sergeant brings home a raft of household prizes, as he did after the recent Flamingo Open Pistol Tournament, everyone considers it time well spent.

The Blanton home was enriched by an elaborate carving and steak knife set, an electric waffle iron, a blade-finished wooden meat platter and a glass coffee maker with individual serving cafecafes.

All this was in addition to 13 medals won and the ship about which the veteran's satisfaction in having come out among the top in competition.

between 125 experts from the U. S., Canada, Puerto Rico and Cuba.

A Chief Petty Officer, with whom he worked at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station, was Sergeant Blanton interested in pistol shooting a year-and-a-half ago. Since then he has participated in many regional and district championships.

He entered the Flamingo Open with freshly gathered laurels from the National Rifle Association's meet at Coral Gables early this month.

OUR WASHINGTON MEN ARE KEEPING BUSY

—Quite a behind-the-scenes fight is still raging over Van Fleet's retirement. Guardedly, one of America's great war heroes is being honored and rewarded by retirement. But intimates of the General feel he is being given the "old heaven-ho" by his former West Point buddies; Collins, Bradley and Eisenhower. Unanswered question is, "Why is he being retired now, when men of his abilities are so badly needed, and lesser men, older than he are being retained?" Senator Smathers has written a strong letter to the Secretary of the Army about it; but here in Washington, it takes more than a letter to get at the hidden purpose behind things.

Federal taxes from individuals are 21 times as high today as in 1939, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

CROSS COUNTRY CHATTER

It was pretty late and I was rolling along over Route 19 with a cargo of assorted canned goods, bound from Pensacola to Ocala. The four-lane traffic had been thick and I was way behind schedule.

A few miles out of Perry, I began seeing shadows where there weren't any shadows so I said to myself, "Mac—your eyes are playing tricks on you. You either pull onto the shoulder and sleep for fifteen minutes or you hit a coffee stop." I decided on the latter and stopped at Perry.

There were four other customers in this greasy airport. Two other truck drivers and a teen-ager and his blonde date. The truck drivers were talking.

"So I jammed on my cinchairs," this one truck driver said, "and just in time, brother. By inches I missed a brown wagon wheel dropped a lug."

The blonde raised her eyebrows and her date looked bewildered.

I chuckled and spoke to them in my best shoulder.

"It's all right," I said. "We truck drivers have a thing of our own. What he just said was, 'I jammed on my brakes and just in time, brother. By inches I missed a brown wagon wheel dropped a lug.'"

"It must be driving these big trucks," the blonde eyed me.

"Well," I said, "the glamour weeks of it. But we're doing a pretty big job for the lions of people—including you and your boy friend. Almost everything you see in here is heavy truck."

The blonde looked at her eggs, her coffee, her bread, and at the stainless steel refrigerators and stoves.

"Why he's right, Jim," she said to her boy friend. "I never thought of that."

"I finished my coffee, added to her and then said to her boy friend, "When you hit the road, don't be a stargazer, pal."

"Stargazer," I said, "truck drivers look for guys who don't dim their lights to oncoming traffic."

"Stargazer," I said, "truck drivers look for guys who don't dim their lights to oncoming traffic."

This grants a power-of-attorney to that service organization, at the exclusion of any other organization, agent or attorney, to represent the claimant in the presentation of his claim, to receive any information in connection therewith on the form prescribed and furnished by the VA, and to have access to records of the veteran. A new program to make sure that schools in Florida training veterans under the Korean GI Bill are meeting all standards before they have just been put into effect.

M. S. Parker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office said that V-A Educational Benefits Representatives will now make periodic visits to schools and establishments in the State of Florida to see whether all provisions of the training law are being complied with.

Among the provisions to be checked are safeguards that protect the interests of the trainees and the Government. A minimum standards, that certain schools and courses have to meet, limits on the tuition a veteran has to pay, and the Good Samaritan, and Jackson Memorial hospitals were represented, as were LeFrance Beauty School and the Coronet Academy of Modeling, Broward and Massey Business College were also there, as were the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine, Coast Guard and the WAAAC.

A good part of the work of the VA Representative will be informational in nature, pointing out any operational deficiencies that may exist, and making suggestions for their correction.

Parker said the Korean GI Bill gives VA a number of responsibilities, that can be carried out only through the system of periodic check-ups.

For example, VA is required to discontinue the GI monthly allowance of any veteran who is taking a course that fails to meet standards set up by law. Likewise, the allowance may be stopped if the veteran's school or establishment fails to live up to the legal standards which formed the basis of GI approval by the State Approving Agency.

Another VA responsibility is to disapprove charges for further veteran enrollments if VA finds that they charge veterans more tuition and fee than they do non-veterans enrolled in the same course.

Still other VA responsibilities are to see that allowances are not paid to veterans for services in excess of allowable limits; that veterans' conduct and progress remain satisfactory; that the training allowances are paid to Korean GI trainees only where all the provisions of the law are met.

The Educational Benefits Representatives who will make the periodic surveys have been selected generally from among former VA Registration Officers, because of their background and experience.

This compliance survey function will be part of the Educational Benefits Section of all VA regional offices. This Section previously was known as the Registration and Research Section.

Parker said he expects the new program of compliance surveys to accomplish two things:

First, to help schools and business establishments understand all provisions and requirements of the law; and second, to assure that monthly education and training allowances are paid to Korean GI trainees only where all the provisions of the law are met.

His success is no overnight accident. Behind his ascent to the top rank of film favorites lies a solid background of stage and screen experience in England. ### BEAN CITY NEWS

Sunday was a high day at Bean City. The Rev. T. K. Kennedy conducted regular services beginning Sunday at 12:00 o'clock followed by morning services. The session was taught by the pastor to the group. Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Taylor worshipped with them and Mrs. Taylor presented the church an offering for missions taken from the Easter communion conducted by Mrs. Taylor. Holy Communion was given at the evening services. The Baptist group are running a revival and missionary jointly. There will be preaching each night next week. Rev. Kennedy expects at least one dollar in the envelopes. We are hoping the souls will come to Christ in this meeting.

Praise goes to The Safety Committee of Bean City PTA of Rev. W. E. Taylor, Holy chairman, and to the many letters written by Principal Ora D. Taylor in behalf of Safety of the children of Bean City. Those of you who pass Bean City now will note the new school signs, and the slow down to fifteen miles an hour in our school zone. Now with the help of the Safety Patrol and the courteous Road Patrol service, our children can pass in safety along Highway 80, Bean City, Florida. Our thanks a million to the State Highway Commission and to this Committee.

The Phyllis Wheatley Club will meet privately until after the revival, when they can again meet at the school building. The president, Mrs. Green will make the announcement to the members when and where to meet. Get your Belle Glade Herald every week. Send your news to the school. Club members asked to attend the services.

NEGRO CHARGED WITH SOUTH BAY ROBBERY

Clever detection on the part of Chief of Police R. C. White, of South Bay, assisted by accurate descriptions and observation of Mrs. W. R. Sullivan and James Jackson solved the burglary at the Sullivan home last Tuesday night with the result that Henry Cook, negro, is now lodged in jail charged with the offense. At first he denied the theft; but confronted with the evidence of his foot-prints from a peculiarly marked sole finally admitted the theft and gave a full description of his technique.

He was employed by the U. S. Sugar Company and lived at South Shore Plantation. He had been working in a near-by cane field and made several trips to the Seminole Fruit Stand operated by Mrs. Sullivan on SR No. 80 and also hung around the house in the evening until he knew the habits of the family.

On the night in question, according to his account, he went outside until Sullivan returned home from his work at the Sinclair Station operated by Clayton Waters, watched until the family had completed their evening bath and retired to bed on the second floor. He then made entrance by lifting the catch on the window screen with an ice-pick and raising the window. He secured Sullivan's trousers from the berth room, took the wallet from a back pocket, extracted the cash amounting to $33 dropped the trousers on a chair, took the money to the top floor. The family awoke up, heard nothing and were unaware of the robbery until morning.

Chief White, called to the scene, observed his foot prints under the window and leading across the field and the air field reduced that the intruder possibly lived either in the Hudson Quarters or the South Shore Camp. Mrs. Sullivan was able to give a full description of the negro who had been hanging about the fruit stand and James Jackson at South Shore observed the kind of shoes Cook was wearing and that they corresponded to the mark left under the Sullivan window. The arrest was made Friday evening and confession obtained over the weekend.

Cook is a parolee from Everglades Prison Farm having served 10 years of a 50 year sentence on armed robbery charge. It is suspected that he is also the person who has been observed lurking around several other homes and places of business at night recently.

CATTLEMEN ADVISED TO BEGIN MEASURES FOR INSECT CONTROL

The wise cattlemen will begin pest control measures in his range herd in spring and report them when necessary on through the fall, according to Dr. Leonard Swanson, parasitologist at the University of Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations.

"Carrying out an effective pest control program not only is humane, but it also will result in higher beef production than if no efforts were made to control the hornflies, and other parasites that bedevil cattle during the warm months of the year," Dr. Swanson says.

While no effective sprays have been developed for control of hornflies and deer flies, two bad pests of livestock, there are materials and methods available that bedevil cattle during the warm months of the year, Dr. Swanson says.

Hornflies usually are found on the withers (back or, in rainy weather, under the belly line; heflies (parents of warblers or grubs) attack and lay their eggs on the hind legs near the hoofs; ticks attach themselves to any part of the body; tall lice are found only in the bush of the tail; blue lice are found about the face and neck; red lice attack the withers and back; long and short neck lice are found on bristles, neck, and under the belly line; and mosquitoes attack any part of the animal's body.

"Inspect your animals frequently," Dr. Swanson advises cattlemen, "and treat the whole herd when you find any or all of these pests on one or more cattle."
He recommends any of these spray or dip formulas for pest control:
(1) Eight pounds DDT wettable powder and four pounds BHC (6 percent gamma isomer) in 100 gallons of water.
(2) Ten pounds toxaphene (wettable 40 percent) in 100 gallons of water.

(3) One gallon toxaphene 42.8 percent and lindane 1.7 percent emulsion in 100 gallons of water.

It is important to get complete coverage of the animal with spray or dip. While high pressure sprayers are more efficient, knapsack and low air materials.

A dipping vat may be used, but before it is charged with any of the pest control mixture.

It should be thoroughly cleaned of residues of arsenicals or other materials.
